PROFILE

Jonathan practices in general commercial, taxation (state and federal), trusts and insolvency law. He is regularly briefed to appear in all jurisdictions, both at first instance and appellate levels. He has appeared before the High Court on several occasions, most recently representing the successful appellant, unled, in Rozenblit v Vainer [2018] HCA 23.

Jonathan advises on complex commercial and tax-related issues. He is also an accomplished and sought after mediator and negotiator. His negotiation skill set draws on 20 years' business experience at CEO/director level in the field of IT, as well as his prior professional work in counseling psychology.

Jonathan graduated Bachelor of Laws and Master of Laws, both with distinction. He was invited to teach Corporations Law, Equity and Trusts at Monash University. He was awarded the Society of Construction Law Award for Construction Law in 2016, and, earlier, the Law Institute of Victoria Prize as dux of the College of Law. Jonathan also has teaching qualifications. His work has been published in the Building and Construction Law Journal: The measure of damages for breach of a construction contract where there is no economic loss, (2018) 34(3) BCL 159.
